

CREA S-108r. Advanced Creative Nonfiction (CRN: 31525)

Jody Lisberger PhD, Preceptor in Expository Writing, Harvard University

In this advanced workshop, we will read in a variety of nonfiction genres--from memoir to the personal essay to the New Journalism--and examine how we can use the techniques of fiction to cut across traditional genre boundaries and tell our own stories. The emphasis will be on craft and expression. Students should bring copies of previous work (fewer than ten pages) to the first class meeting. Admission to the course will be based on this submission.
