

CREA S-25 Section 5. Beginning Fiction (CRN: 31640)

Deborah Drnec Wilkes BA, Editor, Hackett Publishing Company, Inc.

Students learn and practice the fundamentals of writing fiction--description, dialogue, tone, plotting, and so on--in a workshop setting. By discussing and analyzing published short fiction, students learn the narrative techniques and strategies of creative writers. Intended for those who write regularly and wish to broaden their skills and talents.
