

RELI S-1705. Introduction to Indo-Tibetan Buddhism (CRN: 31652)

Leonard van der Kuijp PhD, Professor of Tibetan and Himalayan Studies, Harvard University

An introduction to and exploration of Indo-Tibetan Buddhism in the context of Tibetan intellectual and political history, cultural manifestations, doctrines, and thought. Students will read secondary works and examine various primary materials in translation. The course assumes no background in the study of Buddhism, Asian history, religion, or languages.